Fasulo seeks Board of Selectmen seat

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Wilmington's Robert Fasulo is running for the Board of Selectmen in the annual town election at the end of this month. Fasulo runs against Jonathan Eaton for the open three-year seat.

The Honey Pot Farm owner and more than 40-year resident on his Facebook page, facebook.com/RobFasulo-forSelectman, stated that his objective on the board would be to bring common sense to the town government.

Fasulo believes that his tenacity will be an asset in this capacity. Serving as an auxiliary police officer from 1998 to 2004, he has gained helpful law enforcement experience.

"I'm funding my campaign; I'm not accepting donations," he shared. "I strongly believe that this is a government for the people and by the people."

He wants to set himself apart as a candidate outside of the establishment.

It was the early 80s when this candidate first stepped

Recyclable processing companies face financial woes

By LIZZIE MCDERMOTT

WILMINGTON — The Town of Wilmington, along with many of its neighbors, may soon find itself scrambling to maintain waste disposal services.

Russell Disposal, Inc., the company with which the Town of Wilmington entered a contract on July 1, 2015, has asked the town to cover significant additional costs associated with its recycling program. This includes a request that the town share in next year's tipping fee, as well as a request that the town cover the increase in the fee for the balance of this fiscal year.

The board voted 3-2 to cap increased fees for recyclables at $40 per ton through the end of the fiscal year, a period of roughly three months. Selectmen Kevin Caira and Greg Bendel voted in opposition.

Following expression of their wishes not to deviate from the current contract. Both expressed willingness to evolve their position if more information on other companies is provided.

Regarding a long-term solution, Town Manager Jeffrey Hull or DPW head Mike Woods will speak with town counsel in order to ascertain whether a request for proposal can be issued for new contracts while maintaining the current contract with Russel Disposal without a mandatory fee increase.

The request for additional compensation comes on the heels of an international change. According to Hull, 50 percent of recyclable material waste generated in the United States has historically been shipped to China. The European Union also ships a significant amount of recyclable material to China. On Jan. 1, 2018, China established a policy called National Sword. The policy asserts that too large a portion of the recycled material is regular trash. Until the US and Europe are able to reduce the percentage of trash in this recycled goods mass from 20-30 percent down to under one percent, China will no longer be accepting recycled waste.

Hull explained that some local waste plants are warehousing recycled materials until a short-term solution for adequate disposal can be found. The DEP has authorized communities and plants to dispose of recyclable material as they would regular trash if they are not able to find a processing facility.

The Board of Selectmen expressed discontentment

Family raising money for daughter with encephalitis

WILMINGTON — What started out as the flu turned into much more. On March 14, six-year old Kallie LaBarge of North Reading was rushed to Tufts Floating Hospital in Boston by her mother following a continuous decline, rather than improvement, after being diagnosed with the flu a few days earlier.

Entering the hospital with symptoms of dizziness, being unable to stand or sit without falling, and slurred speech, she was eventually diagnosed with Post Infectious Encephalitis.

Encephalitis is a disease that is basically inflammation or swelling of the brain as a result of some infectious process. In order to treat the illness, LaBarge was given high dose IV steroids. The medication was intended to decrease swelling on her brain. After several days in the hospital, LaBarge was transferred to the Franciscan Children's Hospital to further recover.

It is estimated she will require four to five weeks of inpatient rehab, in order to rebuild her strength and restore her to normal levels of function. As part of her rehab, she will undergo intensive physical, occupational, and speech therapy. Despite this rehab, LaBarge is expected to require further therapy after she returns home, delaying her return back to school and her everyday lifestyle.

Due to her condition, her mother Joanna McGuire, a special education teacher within the Wilmington Public School System, has had to take an extensive amount of time off work. McGuire, a single mother, has run out of sick days as a result.

Due to the large amount

It's Your Money

by Todd Brisbois

THE SAVER'S CREDIT

— PART I —

The Saver's Credit could mean up to a 50 percent credit for the first $2,000 a taxpayer contributes to a retirement plan.

Also known as the Retirement Savings Contributions Credit, the Saver's Credit helps offset part of the amount workers voluntarily contribute to a traditional or Roth IRA, a 401(k) or 403 (b) plan, and similar workplace retirement programs.

Taxpayers with an IRA have until April 17, 2018, (the due date of their 2017 tax return) to contribute to the plan and still have it qualify for 2017. However, contributions (elective deferrals) to an employer-sponsored plan must be made by the end of the year to qualify for the credit. Employees who are unable to set aside money for this year may want to schedule their 2018 contributions soon so their employer can begin withholding in January.

The Saver's Credit can be claimed by married couples filing jointly with incomes up to $62,000 in 2017 or $63,000 in 2018; heads of household with incomes up to $46,500 in 2017 or $47,250 for 2018; and singles and married individuals filing separately with incomes up to $31,000 in 2017 or $31,500 in 2018.

To qualify for the credit, a person must be age 18 or older; not a full-time student; and not claimed as a dependent on another person's tax return.

There was plenty of work to do in the 50's and 60's

BY BRENT CLARK

Growing up in a family of 10 in the good old days meant that there was a lot of work to do.

Every night there was a mountain of supper dishes to be cleaned up, washed, and put away. The little kids were mostly responsible to put away. Not until you reached a certain age did a kid graduate to washing. Either one was not an easy chore, especially if someone started clowning around. Then it could take a long time but it sure was fun.

Saturdays were full of chores before anyone could take off and play. Again, we had the fold and put away laundry scenario. Big kids would fold and little kids would put away. All week the washed and dried laundry would be piled up on the window seat in the upstairs hall. There would be giant piles sometimes. The clothes when folded sometimes yielded stacks that could be taller than any one of us. And there was plenty of opportunity to fool around. I can remember (with fondness) clothes being put on our heads, and clothes even being put on dogs and cats. That was a riot!

Next — on Saturday was the forever chore list left by my mother. It went like this: (keep in mind that I was a middle kid and had four younger brothers and sisters) the list would start with the oldest and then work its way down to me. It would say — “BUBBA” and little kids: Put away folded laundry. Pick up papers in the yard and garage. And then the list would maybe include a couple of small jobs like: catch chickens and put them in the coop and feed them. Oh boy — I remember more than once us little guys trying to round up a bunch of chickens that were scattered around the yard. One of my little brothers would run around holding his head yelling “the chickens are loose... the chickens are loose!” Oh boy — what a chore.

This chore list put me in charge of “the little kids” who as we lived and grew older — they became “my little kids.”

So, we usually had a busy Saturday morning as we did our chores as fast as we could so we could play.

The picking up of the papers was never an easy task. When you have 10 kids and several dogs and a rubbish barrel system that is totally out of control — then — there can be a lot of mess when Saturday morning comes around.

I used to make a game of it as we sang songs and nursery rhymes and pulled an old trash barrel around. Singing rhymes like — “Jack and Jill went up the hill,” “Hickory dickory dock — the mouse ran up the clock,” and “Old mother Hubbard went to the cupboard — to get the poor dog a bone.” These songs kept the kids happy and moving.

All these jobs and chores were done with my mother being absent. She was usually out showing a house to prospective buyers or some other real estate business. But, she always promised to bring us a “surprise” of some kind. This usually meant candy, one of those paddles with the rubber band and ball attached, or a yo-yo. She must have given good old Weinberg's Store a great business.

I also sometimes helped my older brother Doug with his paper route. He had a huge route that was a huge job to deliver. On Sunday we had to put the papers together, load them into my mothers' “beach wagon” with the back tailgate down (back in the old days a station wagon was called a beach wagon, it usually had a tailgate that lowered and wood attached to the sides). We would then ride on the tailgate with our legs hanging down, (no kidding) and hop off the tailgate as we ran to each house with the paper.

My brother Doug also had a newsstand up town near the train depot for a while. I used to fill in for him sometimes. I was under the age of 10 at that time.

Another thing I used to do for cash was work for my dad who built houses at that time. He would drop a bunch of us guys at a house and we would shovel sand or stone through the cellar windows and grade it in the basement. We had to insulate the houses, too. This meant the little kids climbing up in the attic and squeezing down into the soffit while pulling the roll of insulation. A nasty, thankless job, believe me. But we could earn a whole dollar for the day. Golly!!

On my own — I used to babysit for some of the Thurston Avenue families. Can you imagine a nine or a 10 year old being responsible enough to watch other peoples' little kids? That's the way it was back then. I was good at it, too!

When I was 10 years old we moved away from our home on 99 Church St. to the Ballardvale area in Andover for almost a year.

There I worked for an older man who built and rented kayaks on an old lazy river there. It was my job to clean each kayak that came back from a trip. This could be easy or hard depending on how the customer treated the kayak. I worked for soda and candy and free use of any boat I wanted that wasn't being rented. I believe this was one of the best jobs I ever had. I wish I learned how to build a boat but I was too young and restless to pursue something that required so much attention.

After we moved back to town we moved to Floradale Avenue, a road beside the old Diamond Crystal Salt factory (now torn down), and across from Sweetheart Plastics (now out of business).

There we had the usual chores and more. The house was heated with a coal furnace that was a total pain in the butt to keep running. As my older brothers moved out it was left to me and my younger brother Cliff to keep the furnace running. We were so bad at it that our house would be 90 degrees or below 30 degrees.

In hindsight — I should have gotten council from someone older — who could teach me how to run that stupid old furnace. Of course my mother purchased an oil furnace after I grew up and moved out...

I was in the seventh grade when I started a job at Brewster's Lumberyard (where my oldest sister Linda worked) across from the Town Park. I was a stock boy there. I worked after school twice a week and Saturdays. To get to work I had to go up Floradale Avenue past Barney McMann's house where I used to shovel his driveway with my brothers for five dollars and homemade cookies from Mrs. McMann. They were nice folks that insisted we be paid for helping but my mother told us always to refuse payment. So we would refuse, then they would insist and so we had to take the money and not tell my mother. Oh boy!!

Then uptown and over the old wooden bridge — that bridge had a wooden floor back then. Then take a right on Main Street. I would begin to thumb a ride there as I started to walk. On the left was the old Wilmington Theater that was closed in favor of a furniture store by then, next was an old Laundromat where we used to buy ice cold bottled soda for 10 cents each.

Every third dime yielded endless cokes due to some quirk in the machine! Around then I was at a stupid age where I didn't care or didn't want to acknowledge that I was stealing from the coke machine guy. Sad.

Up on the left there were several shops and businesses. On the left was the Fred F. Cain car dealership. As I took a right at the fork there was an old lumber place and gas station where my older brother Stan worked for a while and just after Butters Row was good old Brit's farm where my stupid dog Duke almost killed a baby sheep.

On my right was the home of the Murry's, Noonan's and Pierce's. All became old friends of mine. Over the Butters Row bridge was the Nardone's on the left and the Hersom's on the right whom two of my brothers worked for at a later time.

Up on the right was Gallant's shop where I bought my first wood stove when I grew up and became a home owner. It was a Nightingale Vista stove that was made of rolled steel and not cast iron. They were made right there in their shop back in the day.

All grouped together was the Andersen's Wrought iron business, the Hampshire Press building that used to be an old bowling alley that some might remember, and Polyvinyl Chemical where I worked full time for a while after I grew up.

Most of the time I would walk or hitchhike to work but on occasion if I timed it right then an older kid who's name was Richard Mann would see me and give me a ride. I remember he had a real nice older Ford with a three speed on the column and a nice chrome push button radio. The car was a deep green with a deep green interior. A real beauty.

At Brewster's Lumber — I stocked shelves, pulled cabinet orders, loaded vehicles, and cleaned up. This was my first “real job” that I enjoyed greatly. I learned a lot about business and life from the older guys who were salesmen and managers.

Some other jobs I had as I grew up in Wilmington were Tabby Cat Food — PEE-

YOO, where I ran a small tin can stacking machine. The cans were small but the machine was huge.

Keene Smithcraft Co. where I made light lense frames for the Sears building in Chicago. There I always earned 30 percent more an hour because I could build the frames so fast I was paid for any amount that was over the quota.

Also, at Cuneo Press Co. in Cambridge where I worked countless hours cleaning out ancient lead letters to be melted. Those letters would probably be worth a fortune today.

I also worked for a guy named Paul Pintridge who was a house painter in town where I learned enough to start my own painting company. I strapped a ladder on to the top of an old 63 Chevy Biscayne and took paint jobs all over town.

I spent one summer as a playground counselor at the Highschool with Patty Griffin who was Franky Griffin's daughter. Franky Griffin owned Church Hardware when I was growing up and a great guy to us little kids. Patty was a great athlete and could shoot a great game of basketball.

One year when I was laid off from Polyvinyl, I worked for the CETA Program and worked as a janitor at the North Intermediate School. I took this job rather than collect unemployment funds.

Well, I hope you enjoyed this little trip of memories from “the olden days” as my kids call it.

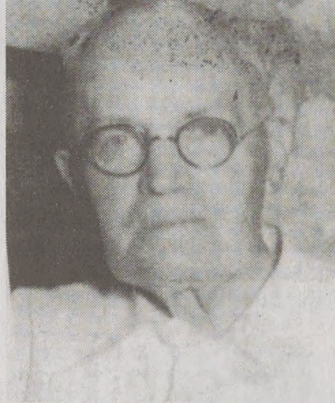

I'm sure one or two of you “old timers” worked at some of these places, too!

Wilmington yarns - ‘Rough on Rats’ Part 2

(Editor's note: The Emmons family came to North Wilmington for a vacation, staying at the Ford-Blanchard house on Salem Street. This is the second installment of a story written by Paul Emmons about 75 years ago.)

I have no personal recollection of the tragic events, headlined into every newspaper in the state, attending to my first night's stay in Wilmington, for I was only two years old. But they must have disturbed me greatly at the time, for my father and mother had no sooner risen from the supper table in that fine old mansion where Caleb Harriman later presided as lord of the manor, and gone upstairs to put me to bed, than they were both taken violently ill.

Out in a hammock in the grove, their friend, Calvin Littlefield, who had induced them to come here, was having a similar experience. Indoors, Uncle Sam and Aunt Lizzie Blanchard, who ran the place as a summer boarding house, were also desperately ill. In fact, there was a wild hullabaloo of vomiting, retching and purging which lasted all night.

And there was no indoor bathroom! Only an old fashioned country privy! And the only lighting system in that year 1886 consisted of hand lamps, candles and lanterns.

Within an hour after the blow fell, the only two people in the house able to walk were Calvin Littlefield's daughter Susan, a school teacher who had boarded with the Blanchards one winter and taught in the old school house which later became the Wilmington Public Library, and the 14-year-old maid in the kitchen, who also pretended to be sick.

A doctor was urgently needed, but there was no telephone it hadn't been thought of in those days. With five people critically ill on her hands, the best that Miss Littlefield could do was to take the black girl and walk down to enlist the aid of Levi Swain, then living in the old Pearson tavern, which had been in his wife's family for five generations. ## Hogan, Sailor initiated into Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi at Westfield State Univ.

BATON ROUGE, LA — Jessica Hogan of Wilmington, and Autumn Sailor of Tewksbury were recently initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective all-discipline collegiate honor society.

Hogan is pursuing a degree in Elementary Education at Westfield State University and Sailor is pursuing a degree in Psychology at Westfield State University.

Hogan and Sailor are among approximately 30,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter. Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897 under the leadership of Marcus L. Urann who had a desire to create a different kind of honor society: one that recognized excellence in all academic disciplines. Today, the Society has chapters on more than 300 campuses in the United States and the Philippines. Its mission is "To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others."

The purpose of the design guidelines is to establish a common frame of reference for future redevelopment.

The design guidelines will provide guidance to property owners and potential developers about the town's vision for building quality, massing, height and character, as well as the interface with the public realm. The guidelines will enhance the economic vitality of Main Street by defining expectations for new development while still allowing for flexibility.

Come out on Thursday, April 12 at 7 p.m. to join the Zoning Revision Committee, the Community Development Department, and Gamble Associates in developing further the future vision for Main Street!

Letters to the editor

Honored to serve on Library Board of Trustees

Dear editor,
I would like to thank everyone who made the effort to come out and vote on Saturday in the town election. I am honored to serve in my third term on the Board of Library Trustees and will continue to work with the board, library director and Friends of the Library to make the Tewksbury Public Library the hub of our community.

Our library provides so much more than books — extending itself to help job seekers, providing programming for all ages, sharing its meeting spaces and participating in events around the town — residents are incredibly fortunate to have an amazing staff working to constantly bring new offerings to the community. It is through your support that library hours have been extended and staff has been expanded to provide more comprehensive coverage and greater services which directly benefit you.

If you haven't stopped in lately, please do so and see what is going on. If you are a regular visitor, thank you for your patronage. We love our library!

With gratitude,
Paige Impink

Byrnes has ability to navigate IEP, special needs

To the editor,
I am writing to endorse MJ Byrnes for reelection to School Committee. MJ is a kind, diligent and involved mother, neighbor, friend, citizen and School Committee member.

Over the years she has offered help to many parents and students in need of advice and support. Whether it is in the aisle of Market Basket, while out walking the dogs or by email she is very approachable, responsive and adept at managing varying situations and problems.

Her ability to navigate the IEP, 504 and special needs populations is exactly what we need to represent us on the School Committee. If elected she will continue to serve Wilmington with dedication and enthusiasm she has over the past years on the school committee.

Cheryl Slater

Byrnes should continue serving on School Committee

To the editor,
I am writing to support MJ Byrnes for reelection to the School Committee position.

As a graduate of the high school 2017 class I have reached out for help from Mrs. Byrnes with issues related to the high school. She was very responsive and empathetic to the needs of all of the students.

She is very approachable and kind. She brings a fierce sense of community. She brings diversity to the role of School Committee member. She is a role model to us all and should continue to be involved in our town and the School Committee.

Thank you,
Veronica Walsh

Kiwanis Club of Wilmington no longer accepting donations for Puerto Rico

To the editor,
The Kiwanis Club of Wilmington regrets to say they will not be continuing the Puerto Relief drive. The Seventh Day Adventist Church of Hartford, which had been sending the materials donated, has run out of money to send more, therefore they cannot accept any more materials.

The donations of money collected will be sent to the church to offset their expenses.

Thanks you to the good people of Tewksbury and Wilmington and surrounding towns who donated over six tons of food, water, clothing, toys, books and cooking tools and many other items.

If you have any donations set aside for Puerto Rico, the Salvation Army at 625 Main St., Wilmington, would be happy to receive them.

Thank you,
Stu Neilson

Thanks to supporters

Dear editor,
I want to take this opportunity to say to our supporters thank you so much for all the things you have done in our cause.

Congratulations to Mark Kratman and Brian Dick for their positive campaigns and their victory. Consider our causes in the campaign; and move them forward for the benefit of all the residents of Tewksbury.

Support Peterson for Town Moderator, again

Dear editor,

I am writing this letter to ask the voters of Wilmington to support Rob Peterson for Town Moderator.

Three years ago we elected Rob as our new Moderator. At that time I endorsed Rob based on his involvement in town, his lifelong residence in Wilmington and his high standard of values.

This year, I ask you to support him again for the same reasons and also, because of the great job he has done since we elected him Moderator. Knowledge of the rules, patience, consistency, impartiality and fairness are all critical qualities of a good Moderator. Rob has demonstrated all of these over the past three years.

This year, the choice for Moderator, I believe, is crystal clear. The need to have a calm, reasonable and knowledgeable person running Town Meeting is critical to maintaining unbiased control of the most Democratic process anywhere.

I ask that you support Rob Peterson as Wilmington Town Moderator.

Sincerely,
Jim Stewart

Fennelly passionate about Wilmington

Dear editor:

I am writing to endorse Jesse Fennelly for Wilmington School Committee.

I had the great privilege of representing the residents of precinct 3 during my 16 years as state representative and have seen firsthand how passionately the residents of Wilmington care about their town. I know Jesse shares those same passions and beliefs.

10 years ago, Jesse interned on one of my campaigns and I was impressed with his desire to help people, his tenacity, and his work ethic. Shortly after that race I asked Jesse to join my staff at the State House. For four years he worked tirelessly as my district aid and communications director. Jesse could always be counted on the attend community events, meet with constituents and represent my office without fail. His ability to work with people and hear all sides of an issue will make

Thanks for vote of confidence, reelection

To the editor,

I want to express my heartfelt thanks to the voters of Tewksbury for re-electing me to the Board of Selectmen. I consider this opportunity to serve the Town of Tewksbury an honor and a privilege. I understand that your vote and trust is something that I need to earn and I will continue to work hard each day to do so.

With your trust, I will work tirelessly on your behalf to help address challenges, and to secure lasting and meaningful improvements to your quality of life in our town.

Not only am I thankful for your support, but also for all the candidates who offered to serve our community and seek solutions for public problems. It is not easy to put oneself out there in such a public forum, so I give credit to those with the initiative to do so.

I look forward to working with my colleagues over the next three years to continue with the progress that we have made and to keep working to resolve any all difficult challenges that face our community.

Again, I thank you for your support and look forward to serving the residents of Tewksbury.

Sincerely,
Mark Kratman

Concerned Citizens of Wilmington endorse Fasulo for BOS

To the editor,

The Concerned Citizens of Wilmington wholeheartedly endorse Rob Fasulo in his bid to become a member of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen. In our collective opinion Rob's "Residents

First" perspective makes him the obvious choice for our endorsement.

Rob is a long-term Wilmington resident and environmentalist. Like the members of the Concerned Citizens, Rob does not embrace the status quo in

Selectmen candidate Eaton knows town very well

To the residents of Wilmington,

I am writing today to endorse an extraordinary candidate for the board of selectman, Jonathan Eaton.

He was born and raised in Wilmington and is raising his young family here, as well. So, he knows this town very well, has been volunteering for many years. With his experience on the Finance Committee, he knows the town budget and all of the operations of this town very well and I feel his knowledge will help as a member of the Board of Selectman.

Jonathan will be impartial, unbiased and unselfish in his approach in making decision for the town and the good people he will serve. He is a young man who only brings his desire to serve the people of this great town.

Please join me and my family on Saturday, April 28 to cast our vote for Jonathan Eaton.

Polls are open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Need an absentee ballot, please go to town hall, town clerk's office.

P.S. Please attend the town meeting on May 5 10:30 a.m.

Thank you,
Edward Loud

him an asset to the School Committee.

Over the years I have also had the pleasure of knowing Jesse as a father. His older son, Lydon, was born while Jesse was still working on my staff, and his younger son, Sawyer, was born shortly after Jesse left for a new position. I have watched him grow as a father and know how deeply he cares for his family. He is invested in making sure Wilmington schools provide the very best education to all of the students in the district. Jesse will be a vocal and effective advocate for all parents.

As a former Wilmington state representative, former boss and good friend, I wholeheartedly support Jesse's candidacy and ask that you cast your vote for him on April 28.

Sincerely,
Charles A. Murphy

Thanks for supporting Harlem Wizards event

To the editor,

The Tewksbury Habitat Build's Board of Directors is so thankful for all of the members of the Tewksbury Community who came out to support the Harlem Wizards event this past Sunday — we had 17 Habitat Hammer team players who were part of the show and entertained the crowd as well as over 25 volunteers who gave up their afternoon to put this event on.

Proceeds from the night will be used for housing projects currently underway at 1057 South St. (to be completed this spring), 1047 South St. (breaking ground in the fall) and Main Street.

Tewksbury Habitat Build is able to build and renovate houses creating an affordable place for families needing a hand up thanks to the support of fundraising efforts such as this.

We are also so thankful for our event sponsor, Wamesit Lanes for their continued generosity and support of this event and the Tewksbury Habitat Build mission.

Thank you to all for helping Tewksbury Habitat Build in our mission of "Bringing Tewksbury Home!"

TTA's first Bingo Night

TEWKSBURY — Oh what a night!

The Tewksbury Teachers Association had their first annual Musical Bingo at the Tewksbury Country Club. Nearly 160 people came out to support the TTA's efforts last Thursday night. Guests included school staff members, administration, town officials and friends.

"I was lucky to have the help of my colleagues. I also recruited my own kids and their friends to help," said Kathy Carleton, TTA Membership Director and first grade teacher.

The Tewksbury Teachers Association has boosted their fundraising efforts to increase the number of college scholarships they offer to seniors at Tewksbury Memorial High School. In the past, they have been able to offer as many as four scholarships but this year they will be giving out eight scholarships.

"We could not have done this without the generous donations made from the community and staff members."

A special thank you goes to Mark Ginsburg and his staff at the Tewksbury Country Club. Mark and the staff at TCC worked with the Tewksbury Teachers Association last year when they had a member event to increase the working budget for the college scholarship fund.

If you would like to reserve your table for next year, please contact Kathy Carleton at kcarleton.tta@gmail.com or 617-890-9547.

They would like to acknowledge the community for embracing their efforts by attending the event and the local businesses who donated items for our raffle table.

Volunteer opportunities for rain gardens

TEWKSBURY — The Tewksbury Beautification Committee announces a new volunteer opportunity available to townspeople: the Adopt-a-Rain-Garden program. Similar to the already established Adopt-An-Island effort, this endeavor would focus on the maintenance of the rain gardens and swales located around Long Pond.

The function of each rain garden is to capture stormwater runoff from the surrounding streets, parking lots and lawns, and provide infiltration to that water prior to entering the pond and other wetland areas. They subsequently support a healthy pond environment, enabling recreational activities to continue in this natural habitat.

Constructed originally through a grant awarded to the town, 19 rain gardens were excavated and planted as a beautiful and functional enhancement to the pond area. Unfortunately, this grant did not cover the maintenance necessary to keep the gardens working effectively. The lack of stewardship has been problematic, and many of the gardens are now overgrown and require effort to bring them back to their original beauty.

Adopting one of these gardens would entail some initial restoration and clean up, as well as continued maintenance to keep them at their best. Packets will be provided to each sponsor with information on garden location, and the plants found in each garden.

If you have a love for gardening, or just want to help make Tewksbury a more beautiful place, you are encouraged to get involved with this project. Please contact the Tewksbury Community Development office at 978-640-4670 if you would like to support the revitalization and maintenance efforts of the Long Pond Rain Gardens.

Letter to the editor

To the editor,
I can't understand why a voter would want Wilmington to become a city and pay higher taxes? Folks, our present politicians and town manager are for the special interest and big businesses and not for the Town of Wil-lington's interest.

Their last vote at the most recent selectmen's meeting took away the vote from the people of Wilmington to make a decision about what we should choose to do with the Sciarappa Farm. The vote was 2 for 2 against and one abstention.

One selectman who was "for" then changed his vote "against." The motion was basically to see if the voters were willing to purchase, receive by gift, take by eminent domain, or let it be sold to whomever they want. Sounds simple? Well not for the two selectman who voted to take away that discussion and vote from we the people of Wilmington. These are the same two selectmen who are also supporting Eaton.

This tells us same old status quo big business and special interest if he's elected. I like sitting in my back yard with my family and friends having privacy and enjoying the view. Why would anyone want to look out at all big complexes abutting our properties? Building the amount of units proposed and rezoning would only overcrowd our town, our schools and stress our police and fire departments. Let alone extend our travel times to and from work and miss our kids events because of traffic.

I see two choices in this election. Residents first or big business and special interest taking our town away from us. Rob Fasulo is the candidate who is listening and fighting for us, the people. Please vote with me for Rob Fasulo and keep Wilmington a town.

Mashantucket Pequot Museum is a winner

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent
paige@yourtowncrier.com

The reservation of the Mashantucket Pequot Indians in Connecticut is probably best known as the site of the popular Foxwoods Resort and Casino. What is lesser known, at least in our area, is that the reservation is also home to the state of the art Mashantucket Pequot Museum and Research Center.

A Smithsonian Affiliate, the Pequot Museum covers over 85,000 square feet of space above and below ground. The building offers an observation tower where visitors can look out over 1,600 acres of reservation land and community. The features of the museum, focused on the Mohegan and Pequot Native American culture and story, are transferable to other Native American experiences in the United States.

While the story could be told in a less than pleasant light, this museum seeks to educate, enlighten, and highlight the triumphs of its culture, while sensitizing visitors to their own vulnerabilities, no matter where they live or which culture they are from.

Upon entry, visitors look immediately to the sky in the soaring Gathering Space. On the day we visited, the area was transformed for a live wolf presentation. Bleacher seating and informative speakers gave everyone a chance to see the wolves and learn more about their evolution. Several galleries, housed underground, transport the visitor through the ice age, ancient caribou hunts, early agriculture, and more. Touch screens and life-sized dioramas put you right in the action.

Not to be missed is the 22,000 square foot Pequot Village. A self-paced audio tour is easy for adults and children to work their way through the village, learning about daily life, traditions, social structures and threats that early European settlers posed to these indigenous Connecticut people. Interpretive galleries provide additional texture to the exhibit, including an ancient dugout canoe found in a Connecticut pond, long forgotten by its tribe.

Additional exhibits include a revolving art gallery, photo exhibits, and an interactive view of life off the reservation. The Pequots were forced to leave their land in search of employment early in the last century, and visitors learn how they regained their land and re-established their Tribal Nation in 1983.

The museum makes for a fantastic day trip. Plan for at least three hours to visit the whole facility. A café is on site or you can bring your own picnic. The museum is open Wednesday through Saturday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. and is a good outing for the April vacation week.

Johnson: Programmed for success

BY MATT FRONDUTO

How does one describe the indescribable? What word can succinctly describe someone as passionate, talented, and well-liked as Tewksbury High senior Shaun Johnson?

The redheaded 18-year old has a variety of skills that, while seemingly eclectic, serve quite an integral purpose in several of TMHS's most beloved aspects. For starters, a moderately important element of the school's functionality, the internet itself, in some respects hinges on the back of Shaun's talents. He is genuinely so skilled with technology that he has proven himself to be useful to the school's administration in ways that even the hired IT professionals have not.

Thus, it should come as no surprise that Shaun has already committed to Salem State University to study Computer Science, and considering the will and determination with which he completes his unofficial technological tasks at Tewksbury High, success in this field will likely be easily found by Johnson.

Using the skills that he has accumulated over the years, Shaun hopes to further continue his technological career by finding work in two of the most highly-touted corporations to specialize in computers and automation — those being BAE Systems and Raytheon. Both of the aforementioned companies work to defend a massive country (the United Kingdom and the United States, respectively), and both have been highly successful in doing so, becoming the leading supplier of technological defense materials to each of their respective countries. While both of these companies are wildly prestigious and well regarded, they are far from unattainable for the TMHS senior.

As perfectly-tailored to Johnson as these careers may seem, he will still miss a variety of his favorite aspects of high school life, some of which include the teachers and friends with whom he has formed borderline inseparable bonds. He also has dedicated an extraordinary amount of time to learning and mastering the intricacies of the high school's sound system, located in the auditorium.

This sound and lighting system is used for all of Tewksbury High's major events, including theater productions, presentations, and fashion shows, all of which Johnson has ample experience in tackling.

Other hobbies and activities such as participating in the Drama Club and his internship with the front office will also be left behind, much to the disdain of Shaun, yet when all is said and done, these may just turn into blips on the radar of what will surely become a hugely successful life for the computer whiz.

STUDENT PROFILES

'V' is for Vittorio, valedictorian

By NATHANIEL
HOWLETT

If you're a student at Wilmington High School, Vittorio Iocco is definitely a name you recognize. Whether it's academics, extracurriculars, or community service, you can pretty much guarantee Vittorio is involved in some way.

You see, Vittorio is a bit of an overachiever. He is the valedictorian for the senior class, and quite deservedly. Vittorio scores top grades in classes like AP Chemistry and AP Computer Science. However, he tries to not let the pressures of grades and class rank bother him too much. He understands high school is a time to be cherished as well.

One way he's enriching his high school experience is by participating in the various clubs Wilmington has to offer. As a freshman he tried lots of activities, but soon found his niche in Rotary Club, Academic Decathlon, and Student Government — and serves as president in each of them.

Vittorio enjoys meeting different people and exploring new interests through his club affiliations.

Rotary Club in particular has been a great way for Vittorio to give back to the community. He especially enjoys visiting the elderly and hearing stories about their past. Vittorio finds their wisdom humbling and finds learning about their experiences makes him a better person. He has even learned about things in his own Wilmington neighborhood he'd never had been aware of had he not made these connections.

So, what does Vittorio do for fun? Well, beside spending time with his family, he "relaxes" by learning foreign languages! And since his favorite hobby is computer science, he also taught himself Javascript. It is no surprise then, that his future plans include majoring in Computer Science at Northwestern University.

Obviously, whatever Vittorio puts his mind to, he will surely succeed. "V" for Vittorio and victory, as well.

RMLD receives
National Reliability Award

READING — Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) has received a certificate of excellence in reliability from the American Public Power Association (www.PublicPower.org), a trade organization that represents more than 2,000 not-for-profit, community-owned electric utilities across the country.

The association helps members track outage and restoration data through its subscription-based eReliability Tracker service and then compares the data to national statistics tracked by the U.S. Energy Information Administration (EIA) for all types of electric utilities. Utilities that place in the top quartile of reliability nationwide, as measured against the EIA's data on System Average Interruption Duration Index, or SAIDI, receive the certificate of excellence. The EIA information comes from the agency's annual surveys of electric power utilities.

"This recognition helps demonstrate public power's commitment to reliable electric service," said the Association's Senior Vice President of Engineering Services, Michael Hyland.

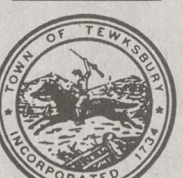

Nationwide, the average public power customer has their lights out for less than half the time, compared to other types of utilities.

"This award is a testament to the success of the goals we set forth several years ago targeting infrastructure improvements, the implementation of ten critical maintenance programs, and the career development of staff. Nature can wreak havoc on an electric system. Good maintenance practices and stable system equipment can mitigate storm damage and improve restoration times," said RMLD General Manager Coleen O'Brien. "While we are honored to receive this recognition, there is still much work to be done for sustained reliability. We will continue to adhere to our system planning to ensure best utility practices, sufficient capacity, cyclic maintenance, and to address aged equipment. It's a continuous improvement process."

Over the past several years, RMLD strategically shifted from reactive to proactive. The development of short- and long-term system modeling and plans were created to ensure continued reliability and have been integrated into the overall financial and budgeting processes; they are proving to be successful.

American Cancer Society Relay for Life offers free Survivor Social Event

WILMINGTON — Wilmington-Billerica-Tewksbury's Relay For Life is sponsoring a free dinner social event for cancer survivors and their caregivers on May 7 at Villa Nova Hall in Wilmington (125 Middlesex Ave.) at 6 p.m. Comedian Jerry Caruso will provide entertainment.

Caruso has performed at many comedy clubs in Boston as well as throughout New England and New York. His performances feature a unique mix of celebrity impressions, song parodies, and standup comedy. In his act, Caruso routinely talks about his Italian life, his thoughts on aging, and rock n' roll bands in their 50's and 60's. In 1994, he co-founded "Comics for a Cure." Caruso has a long history of supporting non-profit organizations with his time and talents.

This Survivor Social Dinner is a recurring event for the local Relay. It doesn't matter if people are still in treatment or are years past that special five-year survival mark, they are all welcomed.

The dinner provides an opportunity for cancer survivors to celebrate with their caregiver guest and for them to meet others who have shared similar experiences. Together the group provides a strong message of hope and inspiration for anyone battling this disease.

While enjoying good food and entertainment, attendees can also learn more about Relay for Life and the free services available from the American Cancer Society to support patients and their families.

RSVPs are due by April 30. To RSVP or for additional information, please contact Francesca Gervasi at Francesca.Gervasi@cancer.org or 781-314-2633. Or you can RSVP and register at <https://www.wilmingtonfl.com/event/relay-for-life-survivor-social/>

Give blood with the Red Cross during National Volunteer Month in April

The American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to give blood during National Volunteer Month this April. Donating blood is a simple way for those who are short on time to make a life-changing difference.

Kay Whaley knows the impact of blood donations. When she was 9, she was in an accident and received many transfusions. That experience inspired her to become a blood donor. "It takes about an hour of your time and could save the life of a friend, neighbor or even family member," she said. "It doesn't cost you anything and is the greatest gift you could give."

Volunteer donors are the only source of blood products for those in need of transfusions. Donors of all blood types are needed to help meet patient needs this spring.

Make an appointment to donate blood by downloading the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). All those who come to donate from April 9 to May 13, 2018, will be entered to win one of three $1,000 gift cards to a national home improvement retailer, courtesy of Suburban Propane. (Restrictions apply. More details are available at RedCrossBlood.org/Lets-Do-More.)

How to donate blood
Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in.

Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, before arriving at the blood drive. To get started, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass or use the Blood Donor App.

Volunteers needed
Another way to support the lifesaving mission of the American Red Cross is to become a volunteer transportation specialist and deliver lifesaving blood products to local area hospitals. Volunteer transportation specialists play a very important role in ensuring an ample blood supply for patients in need by transporting blood and blood products. For more information and to apply for a volunteer transportation specialist position visit rdcrs.org/driver.

Miceli turns in nomination signatures

"I was proud to turn in my nomination signatures for State Representative (to Wilmington Town Clerk Sharon George), as I have always put my communities first and foremost. I want to especially thank the dozens of volunteers who helped out, even working through the rain and the snow, and I look forward to seeing everyone throughout Tewksbury and Wilmington," said State Representative James Miceli.

DA Ryan and police to host free Narcan training

TEWKSBURY — District Attorney Marian Ryan and Tewksbury Chief of Police Timothy Sheehan have announced that they will host a free training on how to administer the overdose-reversal drug nasal naloxone, commonly referred to by the brand name, Narcan. Doses of Narcan will be provided to participants.

District Attorney Ryan and Tewksbury Police have taken a number of proactive steps to address the opioid epidemic. Since last year the Greater Lowell region has seen a decrease in the number of fatal overdoses; however, Tewksbury Police and other first responders continue to respond to non-fatal overdoses. Tewksbury Police Department personnel responded to roughly 100 reported drug overdoses each of the last two years with the number of suspected related fatalities decreasing slightly from 15 in 2016 to 14 in 2017.

According to Tewksbury Chief of Police Timothy Sheehan, "The tragic number of fatalities recorded in 2017 had come in a year when all Police and Fire Department vehicles were equipped with the opioid antagonist/reversal drug Narcan and when it was administered in roughly 55 percent of the reported overdoses. The harsh reality is the number of related fatalities could easily have quadrupled had it not been for this adopted harm reduction strategy that spares families loss and offers opportunity for treatment."

"In Middlesex County we have seen an increase in the people using opioids in their homes often when others are present and suffering an overdose. If you have a loved one with a narcotic substance use disorder you should attend this training to learn how to administer nasal naloxone if you see someone show symptoms of an overdose. Being able to immediately administer this opioid reversing drug could make the difference in saving a life," said District Attorney Ryan.

Using revenue from drug forfeitures the Middlesex District Attorney's Office has already provided 292 doses of Narcan to first responders and school nurses in Tewksbury.

This training is a part of the ongoing efforts by the Middlesex District Attorney's Office and Tewksbury Police to address the opioid epidemic. The Tewksbury Police Department is also a member of the Lowell Opiate Task Force that brings together officials from area law enforcement agencies, healthcare providers, educational institutions, human-service non-profits, and lawmakers meet on a regular basis to discuss how to best share their knowledge and collaboratively work on drug prevention initiatives in the Greater Lowell region.

Tewksbury Police and the Middlesex District Attorney's Office have formed a partnership to investigate and prosecute large-scale drug distributors. In November of 2017, a joint investigation with the Middlesex District Attorney's Office, the Tewksbury Police Department and State Police assigned to the Middlesex District Attorney's Office netted 1,049 grams (1.05 kilo) of cocaine and 558 grams of fentanyl with an estimated street value of approximately $100,000.

To date, Massachusetts State Police assigned to the Middlesex District Attorney's Office have responded to two fatal opioid overdoses in 2018 in Tewksbury.

Letters to the editor

Ragsdale passionate about education in town

Dear editor,
I am writing on behalf of David Ragsdale, in support of his campaign for election to the Wilmington School Committee.

I recently had the privilege of working with David on the Wilmington Superintendent Screening Committee during the months of January and February. Members of this committee were selected by their respective school Parent Advisory Councils for their commitment to the educational future of the students of Wilmington Public Schools. I consider myself a lucky resident of Wilmington having had the opportunity to work with David in the political/professional arena with our work on the Screening Committee. However, as a parent and a town resident, the reasons why I would vote for David are reasons that are obvious to anyone who has met him.

David is an involved town resident; he is often one of a handful of parents at School Committee meetings, demonstrating his commitment to the task. He is involved in extracurricular activities with his children, especially coaching soccer or attending a Book Fair to purchase just one more brightly colored book. David is soft-spoken, yet firm. He is thorough in his work and wise in his decision making.

As a parent of two young children attending Wilmington Public Schools, I would like to see a School Committee composed of members that are passionate about education in our town and our goals as a community. David is aligned with both of these features.

Please join me in supporting the future of Wilmington Public Schools by voting David Ragsdale for Wilmington School Committee.

Sincerely,
Shannon Sheridan-Geldart
MS, PA-C

MacDonald seeks to make Town Meeting more open

Dear Wilmington voters,

I am Kevin MacDonald and I am running for the volunteer non-paid elected position of Town Moderator. I am a lifelong resident of Wilmington. I am an American who believes in upholding the Constitution and defending the liberties afforded Americans therein. I am also a Christian whose faith moves me to truly understand the meaning of being a nation under God and a person under God. The gift of faith gives me the desire to do what is just and pleasing to the Lord. It is my desire to take this faith and implement Godly values and character into the position of Moderator so that all of Wilmington will be served in a just and honorable way.

The moderator presides over the Town Meeting which is the legislative body of the Town of Wilmington. The moderator is charged with maintaining order and decorum, deciding questions of order, recognizing and giving members liberty to speak, and making public declarations of votes. The secure moderator is one who regulates the proceedings of the Town Meeting in conformity with accepted parliamentary procedures, and leaves questions of law to Town Counsel.

Being in a litigious society, it is prudent for an informed moderator to confine his rulings to the conduct of the meeting; however, it is a wise moderator that warns of potential legal problems that could follow some proposed action.

I am running for this office because I truly believe that I can improve Town Meeting and offer an approach that is professional, informative, and respectful toward the civil rights of the constitution. I believe there has been a lack of vision and wisdom which has led to abusive treatment and disrespect of Town Meeting voters. I plan to implement a plan modeled after a baseball game.

Elderly, handicapped, and speakers in general will no longer have to stand for hours to speak. This will involve issuing cards with numbers to people who raise their hands to speak. I will propose an "on deck circle," so to speak, whereby there will be a chair for the next speaker to sit and wait. This chair will then be filled by successive speakers who have raised their hand and have been issued a card with a number on it.

I am open to utilizing any method that will improve Town Meeting. I plan on gathering and developing relevant information about town issues for the purpose of providing an informed discussion of issues. My commitment to uphold and defend the constitution will ensure your constitutional right to free speech is protected.

I am pledging to serve the community and Town Meeting voters as a nonpartisan, non-advocate, and nonbiased meeting leader. I pledge to run an efficient Town Meeting that is open, fair, and informative. I pledge to make you feel welcome to get up, speak, and offer your perspective and ideas that are germane to the article at hand.

You will no longer have your civil rights afforded under the constitution violated. I pledge to encourage and promote widespread participation in debating the issues at Town Meeting. You will no longer be talked to in a condescending disrespectful manner. Fraudulent over budgeting and fraudulent over taxation will not be protected from debate challenge.

Please vote for Kevin MacDonald on April 23, 2018 and help me cultivate a welcoming atmosphere that puts the people in charge of democracy rather than oppressive government.

Kevin MacDonald

Company wants to charge more for recycling

with the situation, as well as different suggestions and perspectives regarding how to proceed.

Chairman Mike Champoux stated that he was frustrated with the state of affairs, rather than simply the company. Just a few short years ago he had believed the new program to be a solution that would both save taxpayers money and pull recyclable material out of the trash stream.

"The materials that the good people of Wilmington and other communities are putting into the nice big green bins, feeling like they're contributing to a better planet, are ending up on barges that are sailing to Asia," he said, noting that the process likely had not been decreasing the carbon footprint nearly as much as many people had assumed.

Bendel is opposed to any deviation from the contract as it stands currently, regardless of requests for additional fees.

"I'm totally opposed to any increased fees, regardless if other communities want to take on this burden. I don't think Wilmington should have to; we have an agreement with them through 2020 and I think they should live up to that."

According to Woods, Russell Disposal is a small company that will likely not survive this turn of events without additional money.

"I can appreciate your hardline stance, you should not pay them another dime. A contract is a contract; unfortunately that means they will go out of business (and) I'll have to go back out to bid," he explained.

Woods noted that Waste Management Services, the second place bidder during the 2014 service selection process, had included an escalator in the contract it proposed. Russell Disposal did not, which is part of the reason it finds itself in dire straits currently.

Waste disposal costs are, in the immediate short-term, expected to hit $90 to $100 per ton, enough to cause many small countries severe financial distress. Woods noted that a new normal may be established as the system equilibrates, with costs potentially returning to the $30 per ton range. Prior costs had been in the neighborhood of $10 per ton.

Several members of the board noted the importance of maintaining some sort of stability and waiting out the initial shock of the situation, noting the very high costs that would be associated with going out to bid for a new contract immediately.

Selectman Michael McCoy also expressed frustration with the idea of paying an increased fee, but noted the importance of not disrupting services to residents.

"For the time being, we just need to take care of the folks right now." Selectman Kevin Caira requested additional information on the potential costs associated with switching service providers. He asked Woods to gather further information informally, suggesting that the procedures involved with issuing a request for proposal might not be necessary in the initial fact-finding process.

Champoux noted the fine line between maintaining principles and finding a practical and serviceable solution. He suggested that a holding a hardline stance on principal in this case might lead to problems.

"Then all we'll have is our principals, a big bill, and trash in our streets," he said. Residents can expect further information on any fee changes, as well as the potential RFP, in the coming weeks.

Paige Bennett held up a sign in honor of her late cousin Derek Hanley, a former Town Crier Male Athlete of the Year, as she crossed the finish line during last year's Boston Marathon. The former WHS soccer player, will be running again this year in honor of Hanley, and her father, Robert. Both of them died due to substance/alcohol use disorder.

Bennett to run the Boston Marathon in honor of family members

Turning the Paige on substance use disorder

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
BOSTON/WILMINGTON -- It's a moment she'll never forget. And it's a moment she knew she would want to experience again.

Last year, then 23-year-old Paige Bennett, crossed the finish line of the 121st annual Boston Marathon holding a sign high above her head which read, "Derek Hanley, you are my hero."

"(That moment was) four months after his passing," she said. "As soon as I finished (the race), I immediately said to myself, 'I'm coming back next year'. It was such an emotional and moving experience. I knew right away I wasn't done honoring Derek's name or his fight."

Paige's cousin Derek Hanley passed away in December of 2016 after his battle with 'Substance Use Disorder'. He was a long-time Wilmington resident, who was extremely well-liked, hard working and one who excelled in athletics. He was the first wrestler in WHS history to become an All-State Champion and he also rushed for over 1,000 yards as a running back during his senior year as a member of the Wildcats Football program.

In early 2015 Derek's mother Patty-Jo and aunt Mary-Ellen started "Into Action Recovery" a rehabilitation facility in Tewksbury. At the time, this one was one the first recovery centers in the area and since, the organization has grown at a rapid pace and has been instrumental in helping so many people in need.

"It means the world to me to be able to be running for IntoAction Recovery, a charity established by members of my family, in this year's Boston Marathon," said Bennett. "I lost my father, Robert, in 2012 to alcoholism and then lost Derek in 2016. IntoAction's mission is provide a long-term program for men and opiate and/or alcohol addiction."

"This horrible epidemic has taken so many loves and I'm honored to be able to fundraise for such a worthy cause. The outpouring of support from family, friends, those that knew Derek, those that share the heartbreak of opiate addiction, and those that are supporters of the fight has been amazing."

During the winter of 2002, Hanley was named the Town Crier's Male Athlete of the Year. At that time, Paige was a little girl, who participated in dance and who looked up to her older cousin.

"Derek was always the person that made every room brighter," she said. "He made everyone laugh, he was so caring and loving as a cousin, friend, brother, son, uncle and father. Eleven days after becoming a dad, he lost his hard fought battle with addiction."

"My family and I have made it our mission to ensure that his beautiful daughter, Jenna, never goes a day without knowing what an amazing, brave man her father was."

Four years after Hanley received the TC award, Paige lost her own father, at the young age of 12.

"Losing my father and losing Derek has left such a life-altering void, but I'm determined to be a voice that calls for awareness, change and treatment so those suffering know that there's people here to help, and those who are grieving from loss know that they aren't alone."

"We've lost so many lives as a nation to addiction and there is no room for the stigma anymore. This is an epidemic that needs universal support and understanding if we're going to be successful in saving lives," she explained.

And saving lives, helping millions of people in need is Bennett's mission. This

Harmon running to help support homeless women

By DAN ZIMMERMAN
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WILMINGTON -- Rosie's Place and the Boston Marathon finish line are separated by roughly two-miles but from the perspective of distance runner Scott Harmon, these distinct locations have melded into a singular destination.

Next Monday, Wilmington's Harmon will traverse the 26.2-mile Boston Marathon course, spanning from Hopkinton to Copley Square, as a representative of Rosie's Place, which has fed and sheltered poor and homeless women since it was founded in 1974. Along with the obvious effort expended while preparing for this challenging event, Harmon has also put a great deal of energy into raising funds for an exceptional organization.

As Harmon recently explained, a career hiatus proved timely in this endeavor.

"After my company restructured in November, I had plenty of time on my hands and began to ramp up running miles as stress relief," explained Harmon, who is a former VP of distribution for Schneeberger, Inc. of Woburn. "I began to consider the Boston Marathon but knew I wasn't fast enough to qualify conventionally."

Enter, the fundraising option. An integral part of the Boston Athletic Association's charity program since 1989, the race organizers welcome volunteers from more than thirty official organizations, including Rosie's Place.

"When I reached out to Rosie's Place, they said 'we have a bib, but no runner - you are it!'" Harmon recalled. "Since then, they added Karen Sikola from Hull. The two of us are now Team Rosie's Place."

Listed on the upcoming events page of the organization's website is a brief press release which reads, "We are thrilled that Scott Harmon is running the Boston Marathon for Rosie's Place! Scott is a great friend to Rosie's Place and he wants to raise as much as possible to support our services for poor and homeless women."

Harmon, originally from Ohio, turned to distance running 15 years ago as a means to stay fit during business trips. Hotel fitness centers, he found, often lacked sufficient equipment. So he turned to the roads, utilizing a GPS website to map out advance routes in unfamiliar locales.

As a youth, Harmon describes himself as a water sport participant, starting out as a member of a YMCA swim team at the age of seven before shifting to springboard diving a year later.

"In 1979, I won the Ohio State Championship in diving which was the first time in Euclid, Ohio school history for either swimming or diving," Harmon recalled.

Harmon has only entered a pair of organized road races, both in 2011, but seems to be on the right track to successfully complete the Boston Marathon. A colleague provided this fledgling road racer with a copy of The Non-Runners Marathon

WILMINGTON -- The decision to run a marathon is not something to be taken lightly. Done properly, the rigorous training requires a huge investment in both time and energy. For a special group of runners, currently wrapping up their preparations for next week's Boston Marathon, there is an added stumbling block.

WHS Boys Lacrosse Preview

Wildcats gearing up for a post-season appearance

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WILMINGTON – One win was all that separated the Wilmington High Boys Lacrosse team from earning a state tournament berth last season, as the Wildcats finished at 7-9, just one win shy of the .500 record needed to qualify. Actually, the way Wilmington coach Fran Peters sees it, just one goal separated his team from the tournament berth they so desperately wanted.

“Early in the year, we lost to Lexington by one goal, and if we won that game we would have been in the play-offs,” Peters said.

With last season now in their rear-view mirror, the task at hand for this year’s team is clear: Get that one more goal, get that one more win. Peters, entering his sixth year at the helm of the Wildcats, knows it will not be easy to get that extra win, but he feels like his team has the ability to get it done.

“I feel like we can beat most anybody who we play,” Peters said. “I think the kids know how good they can be, but now it is a matter of doing it.”

Leading the way for the Wildcats in their quest for a tournament spot will be his six captains, including seniors Tyler Roberts, Moe Ducharme, Bobby Lord, Ryan St. Jean and Ryan Penny, along with junior Andrew Sullivan.

“All of the seniors deserve it, because they are all good leaders, as is Andrew,” Peters said.

Roberts will be leading the way for the Wildcats both on and off the field. The senior midfielder, who was a First Team Middlesex League All-Star last season and will be heading to Merrimack College on a football scholarship in the fall, will be relied on heavily as he wraps up his high school athletic career.

“He is the guy everyone is looking to stop. Everyone will be doubling him, so it will be tough for him, but he is ready for it,” Peters said. “It is a credit to him that even with him knowing this is his last year of lacrosse before he moves on to play football, that he is still working to master things he was weak at. You’ve got to like a kid who is willing to do that.”

Another key for the Wildcats this season will be junior goalie Ryan Murphy, who will take over in net for three-year starter Harley Monteiro, who has taken his talents to UMass Boston. Monteiro will very hard to replace, but Peters is confident that Murphy is ready to step up.

“Ryan started off 7-0 last year in JV games, so we know he has some ability,” Peters said. “We brought him up at the end of the season to play some games and he did pretty well. He can be very good for us this year. He has played goalie all his life, and he has been to camps to work on his game, so I think he will do well.”

In addition to the captains and Murphy between the pipes, other key contributors for the Wildcats will include senior midfielders Connor Benoit and Justin Fraser, senior defenders Kyle Ritson and Pat Carroll, along with sophomore midfielders Chris Robarge and Zach Kincaid.

Peters will be looking for every member of his team to take their game to a higher level if they expect to qualify for the tournament.

“If we beat the teams that we should beat, then we will be in the tournament,” Peters said. “That is our expectation, and I told them that, but they are going to have to go out and earn it.”

One thing that Peters knows he will definitely be able to count on with this year’s team is that they will play hard for one another.

“There is a bond on this team that I have never seen in my five years of coaching,” Peters said. “There is just something about these guys and the way they are playing together. You can see it in their eyes and in the way they practice. They want to have fun, but they also work their tails off for each other and they want to win.”

SEASON OPENING WIN

That desire to win was certainly on full display in the Wildcats season opening 8-3 win over Arlington Catholic on Saturday, a game where Wilmington overcame a 3-1 halftime deficit on their way to the victory.

“It was really a tale of two halves,” Peters said. “We did not play real well in the first half, which didn’t really surprise me, because we had only been out on the field a few times for practice before the game. But at halftime, I just told our guys to go out and play like they know how, and that is just what they did.”

Tyler Roberts, Moe Ducharme and Bobby Lord each had three goals for the Wildcats, while Andrew Sullivan and Zach Kincaid added solo tallies. But it was the defensive crew, led by Kyle Ritson, Kyle Penny and Ryan St. Jean who were the biggest stars of the game, along with goalie Ryan Murphy, who made 15 saves.

“Our defense was lights out,” Peters said. “We shut them out in the second half, and that was with us having three penalties. The defense and Ryan Murphy were outstanding. AC is a good team, and they had a game under their belts already, so they were ready to play.”

While the win was a great way to start, Peters knows his team will need more of the same if they are going to continue their winning ways, with Belmont and Reading on the schedule for this week.

“Now we head into the tougher part of our schedule,” Peters said. “Belmont and Reading are two good teams, but as I told the kids, if we play the way we played against Arlington Catholic, we can beat them.”

Five local athletes tabbed as Globe and Herald All-Scholastics

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
Five local athletes and two coaches were named as All-Scholastics between the Boston Globe and Boston Herald newspapers this past week.

Tewksbury Memorial High School senior Kelly Golini was named to both the Globe and Herald teams including being named the Globe’s Division 1 Player of the Year and to the Herald’s “Dream Team” for the second straight year and is a three-time Herald All-Scholastic. She finished the season with 52 points and with 250 points in her career.

One of Golini’s teammates and linemates, Tewksbury High junior Carolyn Curley was also named to both papers. A two-time MVC All-

Conference selection, she finished the season with 16 goals and 15 assists helping the Red Rangers reach the Division 1 state final. She currently has 119 career points and will be attending St. Anselm’s College and will continue to play hockey.

Third-year Red Rangers’ coach Sarah Oteri was named the Globe’s Division 1 Girls’ Hockey Coach of the Year. She guided the team to a 22-2-2 overall record and a trip to the state final, losing to Woburn.

Speaking of coaches, the accolades continue to come in for Peter Molloy. The veteran cross-country and track coach at TMHS was named the Globe’s Division 3 Girls’ Track-and-Field Coach of the Year. He led the Redmen to a 4-1 regular season and second place finishes at both the Division 3 and All-State Meets.

Two of Molloy’s athletes were also recognized. Senior Rachel Sessa was named to both the Globe and Herald teams. She won state titles in the mile and part of the 4x800 relay team, placed third in the 1,000 and mile at the All-States before taking third in New England in the 1,000. She will be attending Georgetown University on a track scholarship.

Freshman Makayla Paige

was also named to the Herald’s All-Scholastic Girls Track-and-Field team. “This unassuming, pint-sized freshman was an absolute terror in the 600,” said the Herald. Paige won the 600 at the MVC and Division 3 State Meets and went on to take seconds at both the All-States and the New England.

Finally, Shawsheen Tech’s Omar Eldaly of Wilmington, was named to the Herald’s All-Scholastic Wrestling team. He finished with a 46-4 record, which included winning the State Voc Championship for the second straight year, taking second in both the All-State and New England Meets, and third at the Lowell Holiday Tournament. He also had a terrific showing at the Nationals in Virginia.

FOOTBALL HONORS

Tewksbury Memorial High School senior football players Justin Rosberg and Brandon Winn were among 33 players selected to the Jack Grinold Eastern Massachusetts Chapter of the National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete team. The two will be honored at the annual awards dinner to be held on Sunday, May 20th at the Boston Newton Marriott.

CORRECTION
In last week’s story on the Wilmington Pop Warner Middle School team, it was stated that Joe McCauley is the current President of the League, however, the Town Crier was unaware at the time of the story that he stepped aside from that role to begin the new middle school program, and since Bill Cavanaugh has been named as the new Pop Warner League President.

WHS Sports Round-Up

Girls Tennis, Boys Track and Baseball teams pick up first wins

By MIKE IPPOLITO & JAMIE POTE

sports@yourtowncrier.com

They had to wait a little longer than they would have liked to get their season underway, but once they were finally able to hit the court on Monday afternoon, the season could not have gotten off to any better start for the Wilmington High Girls Tennis team.

Coming off the best season in program history, a season which saw them win the first tournament match in program history, the Wildcats picked up right where they left off in their season opener, defeating a talented Reading team by the score of 4-1 in a road match.

"It was a really fun way for us to start the season," Wilmington coach Matt Hackett said. "Reading is usually a really strong team. They graduated a couple of girls, but they did not lose a lot. They still had a lot of talent out there, but we were up to the challenge."

The Wildcats were particularly up to the challenge in their singles matches where they swept all three matches in straight sets, led by junior Emily Hill in first singles, who earned a 6-4, 6-2 decision over Rachael MacDonald, while junior Lia Kourkoutos took a 6-0, 6-3 win in second singles over Brenna Sullivan and junior Carolyn Roney taking third singles by a score of 6-4, 6-0 over Laura Stevens.

It was Roney's first time competing in singles after playing doubles last season with Christina Woods, and she was certainly up to the task, which came as no surprise to Hackett.

"I was proud of her," Hackett said. "She really has the skill set that lends itself to singles, but last year she was just caught in a crowded playing field and singles, and also she had such great chemistry with Christina, so we didn't want to break that up. I had a feeling there would not be too much of a transition and she showed it today. That bodes well for us, because Lia led the team in wins last season at third singles, so it would be nice to have that kind of success again."

The Wildcats other win came in second doubles, behind a strong performance by the senior duo of Lauren Field and Jill Roche by a score of 3-6, 7-6 (7-3), 6-1 over Kate Bergeron and Caitlyn Strout.

"This was their first time playing together, and maybe they had a little rust in the first set, but they started to control the net, keeping their volleys nice and low," Hackett said. "After they won the second set tiebreaker, I think the Reading kids were a little demoralized in the third."

Hackett also felt that his first doubles team of junior

Jessica D'Arco and senior Katie Brown played well, despite losing their match.

"Reading had a very strong first doubles team, and it was their first time playing above second doubles, so there may have been a little learning curve for them," Hackett said. "But they fought for every point and played well."

Woburn match on Tuesday D'Arco and Brown, as well as the rest of the Wildcats, were rewarded for their hard work the next day in 5-0 win over Woburn in another road match.

D'Arco and Brown won their match in straight sets by a score of 6-3, 6-1, while Roche and Field took their second doubles match by a score of 6-1, 6-0.

The straight set victories continued in the singles matches with Hill winning first singles 6-0, 6-0, Kourkoutos taking second singles 6-1, 6-0 and Roney taking third singles 6-1, 6-1.

The Wildcats will be back in action on Friday when they host Burlington in their home opener.

BOYS TENNIS

The season did not start off quite as well for the Wilmington High Boys Tennis team, as they suffered a 5-0 loss at home to Reading in their home opener, but they bounced back nicely in their second match of the season, picking up a 5-0 win over Woburn to even their record at 1-1, which is a great start for a tremendously inexperienced team made up primarily of players who are not even in high school yet.

Wilmington coach Rob Mailey was impressed with the way his team battled in a match that was much closer than the 5-0 final score would indicate.

"It was perhaps the closest match in terms of scores of any 5-0 match I have been a part of," Mailey said. "I thought for a team with very limited experience we were very poised in a close match. It was a cold, windy day, with some rain mixed in as well, but the kids didn't let it bother them. It was very impressive."

The "veteran" member of the Wildcats squad, junior Chris Spinazola, picked up a big win in first singles, winning a marathon match by a score of 6-7, (10-8), 6-3, 6-1 in a match that took over two hours to play.

"That was an incredible match," Mailey said. "His fitness level was better than his opponent and that proved to be the difference."

Eighth grader Anay Gandhi earned a hard fought 4-6, 6-2, 7-5 win in second singles, while freshman Colby Scaplen won in straight sets in third singles by a score of 6-2, 6-0.

"Yesterday (against Reading) Anay played well but lost a close match because of a couple of big points. Today he played really well on those big points," Mailey said. "And Colby got off to a good start in his match, and he just never looked back."

The first doubles duo of sixth graders Anuj Gandhi and Owen Mitchell picked up their first ever varsity win with a 7-5, 7-6 (7-4) victory.

"For two first year players to win that match was very impressive," Mailey said. "I was very proud of them. They showed a lot of toughness to get that win."

Freshman Jared Benoit and eighth grader Alex Flynn capped off the big day for the Wildcats with a 6-2, 7-5 victory in second doubles.

"I was proud of them for that win," Mailey said. "They played a real close second set, but they came up big when they had to."

In their season opener against Reading despite the loss, was proud of the way his young team competed at the varsity level, most of them for the first time.

"The match was much closer than 5-0," Mailey said. "We had a couple of close matches in second and third singles."

In second singles, Anay Gandhi gave his opponent all he could handle, before falling by a score of 7-5, 6-4.

"Anay was very close," Mailey said. "It was just a matter of a couple of big points in both sets. But he played very well. It was a very gutsy performance."

Scaplen nearly pulled out his third singles match, falling by a score of 6-0, 2-6, 6-4 to a much more experienced opponent.

"That I the best I have ever seen him play," Mailey said. "He played very well. He is still just a freshman and he is only going to get better."

Chris Spinazola, lost his first singles match by a score of 6-0, 6-2, but Mailey felt the score did not indicate how well Spinazola played.

"I counted at least ten points where the rallies were at least 20 hits," Mailey said. "He really battled hard, but the kid from Reading was just a backboard, and he didn't really make many errors."

This season promises to be one filled with learning experiences for this extremely youthful Wildcats squad, and the season opening match was certainly a prime example of that, but Mailey was proud of the way his team battled despite the odds being stacked against them.

"For a lot of these kids it was their first time playing in a varsity match, so they will keep working on it," Mailey said. "I thought overall for their first high school match they did very well. They will keep working and they will keep getting better."

GIRLS TRACK

The Wildcats opened their season at home on Monday against Middlesex League Freedom Division opponent Melrose, and the 'Cats were defeated by a score of 81-55.

"Coming into the meet we knew Melrose has a young and strong team," said head coach Brian Schell. "This allowed us to try new events for a handful of the team especially in the long and triple jump. Despite the score and new events, the performances were solid all around."

Overall Wilmington had seven first places, including two from senior captain Alexcia Luna, who was tops in the triple jump (32-6.75) and in the 200-meter dash (25.79) as well as two from sophomore Hannah LaVita, who continues to strive and improve.

"She had a long winter season and has been pushing through shin splits so I was not going to have her compete in three events," said Schell. "This was her first time ever attempting triple jump and to miss state qualifying by one foot just further shows her athleticism. In the 200, she got off quick to the gun and came off the turn strong. We just need to build some strength to push that last 40 meters of the race."

Two other strong performances came from LaVita and Juliana Patrone in the high jump. LaVita took the top prize as she cleared 5 feet and Patrone cleared 4-11, good for second place and was also a personal record.

"Both girls have been looking solid at practice and have been getting some good jumps in," said Schell. "They both also competed in the 400-meter hurdles prior to the high jump and for Hannah, she also managed to take first place 1:16. Both heights were good enough to qualify for states and even PR as well as having solid jumps at their following heights. All season the high jumpers have been getting some really good practices in coach (Joe) Patrone."

The other first places were earned by Amie Russell in the shot put (28-1), Jade Brennan in the javelin (76-8) and Emma Garrity in the 800 (2:29).

Other second places were earned by Gabby Villalta in the javelin (66-6), Russell in the discus (66-8), Gianna Misuraca in the mile (6:17) and Evelyn Miller-Nuzzo in the 400 (65.0). She was also third in the long jump at 13-3.50, as was Brennan in the discus (63-6). The other thirds came from Lailoo Perriello in the mile (6:18), Kiki Barnum in the 100-meter hurdles (19.89) and Julia McLaughlin in the 200 (29.6).

"Overall, the meet showed a lot of good signs and feels good to have finally got a meet in," said Schell. "More people will be attempting new events in upcoming meets and we will take it one day at a time working everyone into them."

BOYS TRACK

The Wildcats easily trounced Melrose 107-29 in the season opener on Monday at the Frank Kelley Track and amazingly Wilmington had 23 different athletes get into the scoring sheet and that doesn't count winning both the 4x100 and 4x400 relay races.

The strongest performance on the day belonged to Colin Rooney, who was first in the 110-meter hurdles (18.2), first in the long jump (17-3.50) and second in the high jump (5-5) as he accounted for 13 of the team's total points.

Both Sean Braz and John Kenney won multiple events. Braz was first in the triple jump (37-3.50) and 400 (54.1) and Kenney was tops in both the 100 (11.2) and 200 (23.5).

Five other athletes also placed in two events. Sam Vince was second in both the 110-meter hurdles (18.8) and the 400-meter hurdles (64.3). Max Duong was second in the triple jump (36-8.5) and long jump (16-6.50), Tyler Thomas was first in the discus (115-3) and second in the shot put (40-10), Aiden McGrath was third in the 400 (55.1) and tie for third with Mike Fothergill in the high jump, while he also swiped third in the 200 at 23.9.

Braz, Kenney, Vince, Duong, Thomas, McGrath and Fothergill combined for 43 of the team's points.

Three other individuals took first place including Owen Surrette in the mile (4:52), Nolan Kane in the javelin (126-1) and Brian Elder in the 800 (2:00.5). The 4x100 and 4x400 relay teams won with respective times of 47.5 and 3:49.

Taking second places included Greg Adamek in the mile (4:52.5), Ben Pastore in the javelin (121-5), James Sheehan in the discus (111-6), Frank Melanson in the 100 (12.3), Jake Danieli in the 400 (55.0), Tom Hogan in the 200 (23.8) and Ben Packer in the two-mile (10:39).

Rounding out the scoring a point each with third places included Matt Thomas in the 400-meter hurdles (65.7), Sam Juergens in the triple jump (121-5), Kevin Elder in the 800 (2:13.8), Joe Lydon in the two-mile (10:39) and Dillon Greenhalgh in the long jump (16-1.50).

BASEBALL

The Wildcats opened their season on Tuesday and defeated Woburn, 9-4, at Scanlon Field. Woburn helped out by committing seven errors, which led to six unearned runs.

"It was a typical first game of the season. (Woburn) wasn't the best defensive team, but like I told the kids, I'd rather them hit the ball and put it in play than to strikeout," said Wildcat coach Aldo Cairra.

Wilmington struck for two runs in the first, four more in the second before adding two in the fourth and one in the fifth. Danny Gracia and Carl Beatrice had RBI hits in the first inning. Matt Rideout had a RBI single in the second and then all of the other runs came on errors and a wild pitch.

Rideout, Jarred Aucoin and Gracia had two hits and all scored two runs each. Graham Smith was 1-for-3, scored two runs, stole a base and had a walk.

Senior Chris Grecco earned the win as he went the first five innings, giving up two runs, one earned on six hits, without issuing a walk and striking out four.

"Chris did pretty good for the first game of the season," said Cairra. "There was one inning there where we made some defensive errors and his pitch count got up there, so he could have gone a little longer (if that hadn't happened), but he was strong for the first game of the season. His off-speed stuff wasn't that sharp today and he had to use his fastball more but that'll come. It was cold and it was the first game of the season."

Leading 9-2 after five, Grecco was lifted and Beatrice came on. He gave up four straight hits before getting the first out on a strikeout. He then hit the next batter to force in a run to make it 9-4. With the bases loaded and one out, Beatrice gout of the jam with a line out to second baseman Ben Maynard, who turned and tossed the ball to Gracia to double off the runner at second.

Smith pitched a scoreless seventh giving up a harmless two out single, while striking out the first batter he faced.

SOFTBALL

The Wilmington High School Softball team was defeated by Woburn, 6-5, in the team's opener held Tuesday afternoon at Aprile Field. The 'Cats were ahead 5-3 going to the top of the seventh before the Tanners scored three runs behind an error and four straight hits.

Kayla Bourrell and Ally Moran had two hits each. Defensively Dana Goulet and Liz Gordon completed a nice double play.

U12 Girls dominate Dedham to win MYCGHL title

The Wilmington Girls U12 Hockey team won their division in the Middlesex Yankee Conference Girls Hockey League on Saturday with a dominating 5-0 victory over Dedham.

Wilmington started the game off with relentless pressure on Dedham but the Dedham netminder, who played solidly all game, saved the first ten shots. Just over half way thru the first period Wilmington's Ashley Mercier gained control in the offensive zone and made a precision pass back to defenseman Giovanna Gulinello who wristed a high shot into the upper left side of the net for a 1-0 lead. Back to back penalties against Wilmington slowed down the offensive onslaught for the remainder of the first period.

The second period opened up with the Wildcats continuing to pressure Dedham. Antonia DiZoglio picked up a loose puck in the neutral zone and weaved her way past two Dedham defenders and crossed through the slot and fired a pin point wrist shot into the back of the net to make it 2-0.

Less than two minutes later Mercier grabbed the puck off the boards and passed it up to Casey Kelley who lasered the puck up to a flying Brenna Young who wristed a bullet over the goalie's glove to make it 3-0 Wildcats at the end of the second period.

The Wildcats continued their domination of Dedham at the start of the third period.

od. Just three minutes in, Wilmington defenseman Lily Mackenzie rushed the puck up from her own zone and left Dedham defenders dazed and confused as she flew past them and straight to the net and executed an amazing deke move which sent the goalie to the right and Mackenzie would back hand the puck into the left side of the net to make the score 4-0 Wilmington. The Wildcats added one more when a hard working Lexi Engvaldsen sent the puck towards the net and Mackenzie would scoop it up and bang it home to finish off Dedham 5-0. While four different girls scored, this victory was the result of all 18 players working together. Mia Gonsalves was again a brick wall in net for Wilmington stopping everything shot her way. Centers Maddie Sainato, DiZoglio and Mercier played tremendously. Left wingers Kelley, Engvaldsen, Megan Mullarky and Vivien Savoie played their hearts out for the team. Right wingers Riley Rourke, Alexis Fox, Corrine Foley and Kiley Bloom back checked and hustled all game to nullify a potent Dedham offense.

Defensemen Alex Lavigne, Gulinello, Mackenzie, Juliana Angiuoni, Brenna Young along with younger sister Gianna not only played solid defense, they all were a strong offensive force as well.

Pee Wee 1 team falls just short in the finals

The Wilmington Wildcats PeeWee 1 Youth Hockey team's tremendous season came to an end on Saturday at the Valley Forum in Lawrence. After winning ten straight games, including two shutout playoff wins, the Wildcats were defeated by the Stoneham Spartans in the finals by a score of 2-0.

The shorthanded Wilmington team came out ready to play but some good goaltending and some lucky bounces for Stoneham kept the Wildcats off the board. Wilmington's effort was consistent throughout the game and although worn down at times, they never gave up.

Griffin Carr was once again spectacular in net for the Cats, allowing only one goal. Jacob Smith, Charlie Chirichiello and Johnny Dalton played awesome on defense as did Alex Burns and Matt Mozuch, all giving it their best.

Brett Ebert and wingers, Ryan Hayden and Daniel

Lagunilla, nearly scored several times. A few hit posts, some high shots and some good saves made the difference. Bobby Dodge, Ryan Papineau and, wing-mate Brett Gallucci had some good chances out in front of the Spartans goal but somehow the puck just couldn't find its way into the net.

Carr continued to play "lights out" goaltending the entire game. It wasn't until the final minute, in an attempt to tie the game Wilmington pulled the goalie. Unfortunately, Stoneham was able to put one in the open net and take the 2-0 win.

It was a valiant effort from the Wildcats as a remarkable season came to an end. The boys should hold their heads high as making it to the finals is a great accomplishment. The coaches, parents and fans are all proud of the team!

Rams Baseball team win season opener

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

It wasn't exactly baseball weather on Monday afternoon when the Shawsheen Tech Baseball team took on CAC rival Greater Lawrence in their season opener at Shawsheen, but that hardly seemed to matter to the Rams, whose bats seemed to be in midseason form during a 9-3 win over the Reggies to get their season started off to a great start.

For Shawsheen coach Brian McCarthy and his team, merely getting on the field for a game was an accomplishment in itself. Getting a big win over a league rival in their return to the field made the day all the more special.

"It was great to get out there and get going. Lots of rain and snow early this season made it tough to get ready, both mentally and physically," McCarthy said. "We've been in the gym and in the parking lot for about two weeks, so getting on that field for some practices and then getting a game in this week was great."

Senior left-hander Sean Flagg limited Greater Lawrence to six hits and only two earned runs with seven strikeouts in six innings while earning the win on the mound for the Rams.

"Sean pitched a great game for us to open the season. It's the second season in a row that Flagg threw the opener for us, as he did it last year as a junior and got the win then too," McCarthy said. "He's a solid, veteran pitcher. He's a smart player, he knows how to set hitters up and utilize his defense behind him to work efficiently. He's a great leader and presence on the mound for us... every day he gets the ball, you know what you're going to get from him, you can rely on him."

The Rams were also able to rely on a powerful offense in this one, led by junior C.J. Zemetres of Tewksbury, who had two hits and three RBI, while sophomore Connor Rich had two RBI and a run scored and senior Craig Meland had two hits and an RBI. Shawsheen broke the game open with six runs in the third inning.

McCarthy is hoping the offense can continue to produce throughout the season, helping to balance out the Rams strong pitching staff.

"Coming in to the season, we knew we had some bats returning at the top of our line up in (Chris) Galinos, Zemetres, and (James) Alagna, however, it was nice to see the whole line up produce in the season opener," McCarthy said. "A handful of guys had multi-hit games, a couple of young, new players chipped in with the bats, but everyone in the line-up contributed in some way, which was great to see. We knew we had three veteran pitchers coming back this year and we thought we would have to lean heavy on them. But if the bats can hit like this every game, that would certainly take some pressure off them."

After getting off to a great start in their first game, the Rams will be looking to keep their winning ways going when they take on Greater Lowell on Wednesday and Essex Tech on Friday.

"The weather is looking good, moving forward, and we have two more big CAC games this week," McCarthy said. "So we've got our work cut out for us. But it's great to be out there competing."

cation standards for those willing to commit to one of a number of charitable organizations and raise funds in conjunction with their marathon journey. At times, the fundraising aspect can be as taxing as the training itself.

Wilmington's Deb Repucci, for instance, will be running her first Boston Marathon on behalf of the Massachusetts Fallen Heroes Charity which, according to its Mission Statement, strives to "honor the memories of our fallen, support our Gold Star family members, empower our Veterans, and educate our communities."

"I think the biggest challenge has been raising money for my charity," said Repucci, referring to the significant competition for donor dollars. "But the Fallen Heroes is such an important organization and I'm working very hard to raise as much as possible."

Repucci, 39, began running in 2001 soon after watching her brother complete Andover's Feaster Five 5K in full firefighter gear. Before long, she was racing regularly, entering events from 5K to the marathon over a running career spanning seventeen years. When she wasn't running conventional road races, Repucci entered Spartan events, which combine distance running with an often grueling obstacle course. While she has three marathon finishes to her credit, Repucci will toe the line in historic Hopkinton for the first time next Monday.

"The Boston Marathon has been part of my bucket list for some time and I'm looking forward to crossing it off," said Repucci, who prefers the less-demanding half-marathon distance and recently finished her favorite, the Wrightsville Beach half-marathon in North Carolina, in 1:56.29. "I have loved being a Boston Marathon spectator over the years because of its history and the excitement of the crowds. I can't wait to feel what it's like to be part of this special event."

Repucci's training regimen typically includes three-a-week workouts, including speedwork on Monday, a Wednesday 10-miler, and on Saturday, a 13 to 20-mile effort. In late March, she polished off a 22-miler with the Melrose Running Club. Repucci has a number of measured routes in and around Wilmington and usually runs with friend Jenny, who is also training toward Boston.

"All of our running routes end somewhere near Heavenly Donuts so we can refuel," she quipped.

Repucci's charitable endeavor, however, is no laughing matter. She turns serious when describing family members who have served.

"My son Kyle is currently serving in the Air Force, my dad was a Marine, and my brother Keith Weightman was enlisted in the Navy," said Repucci, who works in the Special Education Department at Winchester High School. "But it was my friend Melissa Nooney, who served two tours in Iraq with the Army National Guard, who first introduced me to the Massachusetts Fallen Heroes Charity."

According to Repucci, the Fallen Heroes organization supports local Veterans through their Veteran's Edge program by providing advocacy services and programs, including workforce development, civil service employment, disability compensation claims assistance, discrimination, and legal assistance (non-criminal), among others.

"The Massachusetts Fallen Heroes do wonderful things for Veterans and I feel it's important to honor them with our support when they return," she said.

Repucci is urging donors to visit her fundraising page at

Turning the Paige on substance use disorder

Monday, the now 24-year-old will lace up the running shoes for the second straight time to be a part of the 122nd annual Boston Marathon.

"This year, I worked with John Hancock to run for a charity of my choice and worked to ensure that IntoAction was registered to receive all fundraising proceeds and to continue the fight for treatment and healing," she said.

So far in her training - Bennett, a former WHS soccer player, who went on to be a part of the Bentley College Dance Team for four years before graduating in 2016 with a degree in Finance and is now working for John Hancock as a 401 Sales Consultant - knows that her own body will need plenty of treatment after Monday's 26.2 mile trek through the streets of Boston and of course Heartbreak Hill.

"I'm expecting another unbelievable run to Boylston," she said. "I have had a great training session and have focused a lot on training on hills. I have a love/hate relationship with Heartbreak Hill, but after training (for it), I'll be excited to get back out there (to meet that challenge)."

She added that so far besides some very minor aches and pains, her training has gone smoothly.

"I have dealt with some IT band issues that I didn't have last year, so that has made me a little bit nervous," she said, "but I'm sure the adrenaline and support from all of the spectators will make it a non-factor. The energy and love on that course is truly so special and unique to Boston. I feel so lucky to be able to experience that again."

And certainly Derek Hanley feels so lucky knowing that his cousin continues to literally, carry his name throughout the streets of Boston.

Harmon running to help support homeless women

Trainer written by David A. Whitsett. The book outlines the best approach for first-timers and features steady mileage increases toward long individual workouts of 18-miles weaved into 40-mile weeks. Most of Harmon's training take place along a stretch of Route 62 between Wilmington and Burlington.

"There are a number of hills along the way and I'm confident this has prepared me for Heartbreak Hill," said Harmon, referring to the arduous climb beginning at the twenty mile mark of the Boston Marathon. "Training over the winter has been challenging. I was thankful to have a treadmill in the basement for these recent nor'easters and a number of bitterly cold days."

Harmon most recently completed the Duxbury Half-Marathon as a final tune-up for the main event and recorded a respectable 2:10:49 finish.

"This time will help me to determine what pace I can expect to run in the marathon," explained Harmon, who covered the 2011 edition of the Lowell Sun Half-Marathon in 2:06:39.

Harmon, 56, has five daughters and four grandchildren. His wife provided some of the inspiration for choosing Rosie's Place as their fundraising recipient.

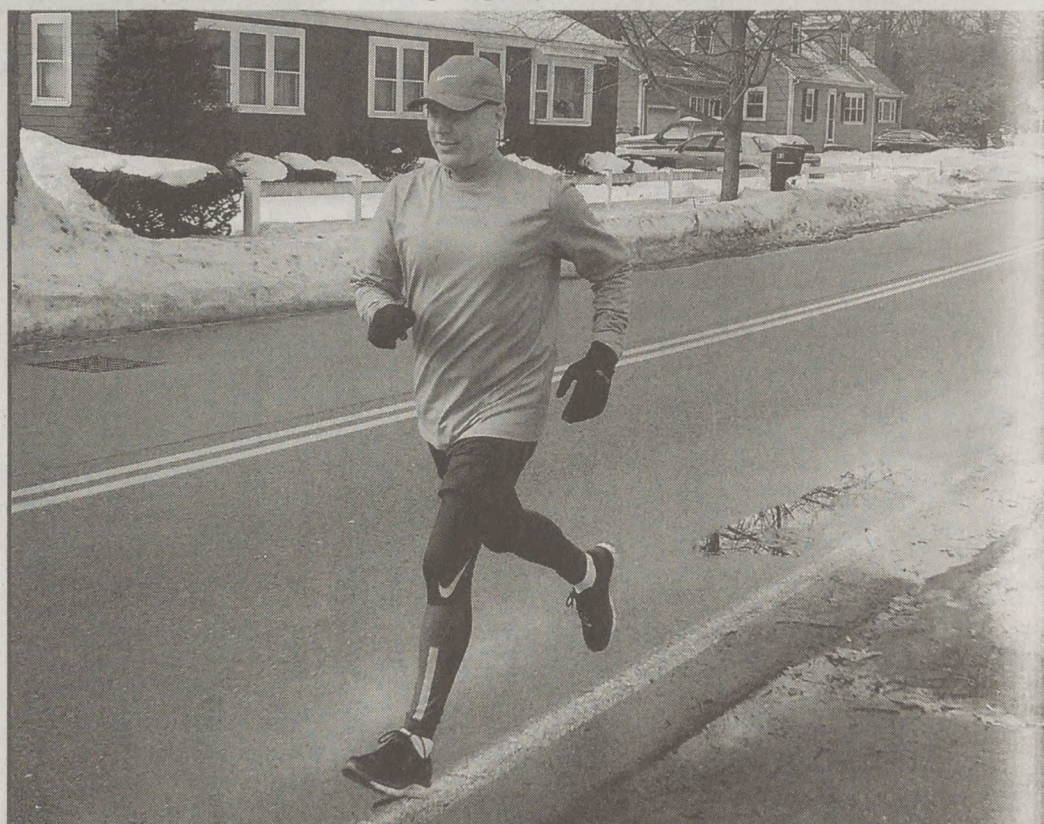

"Well before I met her, my wife Angelica struggled to make ends meet as a single mother of two," he shared. "She had the recurring fear of not having enough money at the end of the month to pay rent. While never homeless, that stress gave her strong empathy for those in need."

When asked why he selected Boston as his first, Harmon pointed out that running a marathon was one of his bucket-list items and like many Massachusetts-based distance runners, felt drawn to an event held in his own backyard.

"The Boston Marathon is famous worldwide and the oldest in the United States," he said. "This is the 121st running and I'm so excited to be part of it. I'm also glad I could help Rosie's Place, which relies solely on the generous support of individuals, foundations, and corporations."

Registration is now open for the 8th Annual 5K Run for Wilmington/Kim Forte Walk

WILMINGTON - On April 22, 2018 at 11AM, We're One Wilmington (WOW) will host its eighth annual 5K Run for Wilmington / Kim Forte walk, featuring a fun-filled morning of entertainment, friendly competition and community spirit.

We will gather at the Wilmington Town Common to celebrate both the life of Kim Forte and the amazing spirit of this very special town. Our course is fast and flat and is ideal for all ages and athletic abilities. Last year's event attracted over 550 runners, walkers and spectators from Wilmington and surrounding towns.

Registration is now open. Don't miss out on the fun - it is a wonderful way to kick off spring! Registration can be completed online or through our mail-in registration form. Both can be found at <http://onewilmington.org/projects/road-race/>.

Proceeds from the road race will be used, in part, to fund the WOW scholarship program, which has awarded $8,500 annually to deserving Wilmington students over the past eight years.

For the fifth year, WOW will also donate $3 per youth and $5 per adult registration back to local non-profit organizations selected by registered participants. Since we have started this tradition, our participants have raised over $10,000 for many deserving Wilmington organizations.

A list of organizations can be found on our registration page at <http://onewilmington.org/projects/road-race/>.

WOW is actively seeking sponsors for this event. Opportunities run the gamut and no level of sponsorship is too small.

It is largely through the generosity of our sponsors that we are able to fund our many charitable initiatives. Sponsorship levels and benefits can be found on our web site at: <http://onewilmington.org/projects/road-race/sponsors/become-a-sponsor/>. Early bird rates are available until March 23, 2018.

We invite you to visit www.onewilmington.org to learn more about We're One Wilmington and the 8th Annual 5K Run for Wilmington/Kim Forte Walk.

Former hockey coach to put on boxing gloves

Wilmington resident Michael Gautreau will be one of the everyday individuals who will transform into fighters with a shared goal of knocking out cancer in Haymakers for Hope's eighth annual "Rock 'N Rumble" charity boxing event at the House of Blues® Boston on Thursday, May 17, 2018. Tickets are now on sale for the event, with doors opening at 6:30pm and fights beginning at 7:30pm.

This May, thirty-two brave men and women living and working in the Greater Boston area will compete in boxing matches throughout the night, against equally skilled opponents to help raise money for cancer research, awareness, survivorship and care.

In preparation for the big event, each fighter is strategically paired with a boxing gym and coach to guide them through the vigorous four-month training cycle. All participants train individually and within small, intimate groups, learning the fundamentals of the sweet science, while creating lasting bonds with their trainers and Haymakers for Hope colleagues. Haymakers for Hope is much more than a cancer fundraiser.

Gautreau, who previously served as the Wilmington High School Girls' Ice Hockey Coach, has also participated in various other sporting events over the years including several marathons.

Since its initial event in 2011, Haymakers for Hope has raised more than $8 million for cancer research, awareness, survivorship and care. The organization has transformed more than 500 ordinary participants into extraordinary amateur fighters. At this year's annual "Rock 'N Rumble," the organization hopes to raise upwards of $600,000 to knock out cancer. The Boston 2018 fighters have collectively raised over $140,000 as of today.

"Over these past eight years, we have built a strong community of ass-kicking philanthropists from all walks of life who show amazing courage by stepping into the ring to literally kick out cancer," said Co-Founder Andrew Myerson. "Haymakers pushes everyday men and women to surpass mental and physical limits and we fully believe in the organization's ability to scale its fundraising capabilities to millions annually."

Haymakers for Hope "Rock 'N Rumble" fights are scheduled for three, two-minute rounds, and the entire boxing card is sanctioned by USA Boxing.

General admission tickets are $85 (standing room only), VIP & box seating packages begin at $150, and sponsorship packages are available for $2,500 and up. Tickets are now on sale!
